

Pupils' Safety: PTA Concerned

The Parent Teacher Association of John F. Kennedy Elementary School in Daly City said today it was deeply concerned about the dangers to our children during construction of the Blossom Valley project.

Dozens of small children pass by the site daily on their way to and from the school on Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

A sidewalk is available for the children, but some like to play around the construction site where giant earthmoving vehicles are at work.

On occasion, construction vehicles must pass over the sidewalk and across the roadway with their heavy loads, witnesses say.

It is at these times the children are in the greatest danger, according to PTA spokesperson Mrs. James Ryan.

Children on their way to and from school face a variety of hazards, Mrs. Ryan said. Heavy equipment is constantly moving over the sidewalks on Price Street and the driveway to the school. There is rarely a flagman present even when the equipment is backing.

Arthur "Buz" Hoskins denied the children are in any danger from his equipment.

He said a watchman is posted when equipment is crossing the road.

Hoskins said it was unnecessary to have a 24-hour-a-day guard on duty at the site.

The only practical way for autos and school buses to approach the school is to make a left hand turn on the parkway and go up the driveway.

Mrs. Ryan explained. This driveway is not quite wide enough for two cars to pass comfortably.

And when heavy equipment is operating back and forth across this driveway, cars must back down, across the sidewalk and onto Guadalupe Parkway, Mrs. Ryan said.

City Manager David Rowe said he was presently having the matter investigated to insure the 325 children at the school are not in danger from the equipment.

Daly City Files Bus Complaint

A six-page complaint against Northgate Transit Co. has been filed with the state Public Utilities Commission which is expected to discuss the issue today in San Francisco — by Daly City Atty. Albert Polonsky.

Northgate's buses have been off the streets since their insurance was terminated on April 9.

PUC regulations prohibit operation of a transit system without proper insurance coverage.

Polonsky listed 18 reasons why the city wants the PUC to revoke Northgate's operating permit on the Peninsula.

On April 21, Polonsky was instructed by the PUC asking that Northgate's Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity be revoked.

Several times in the past Northgate has been forced to cease operation because of insurance problems, Polonsky said.

This cessation of operation has created "confusion and problems" among residents of Daly City, Polonsky added.

Julius Castellani, general manager of the newly-formed Daly City Transit Systems, Inc., which stands ready to take over Northgate's routes almost overnight if the PUC agrees with Daly City, said he had been in contact with James K. Gibson, an official of the PUC, on the matter.

"Mr. Gibson said Daly City had not written to them yet," Castellani charged.

"We filed our complaint at 10:30 Monday morning," Polonsky assured.

The complaint noted the California Highway Patrol had ordered Northgate's buses off the streets several times for failure to comply with safety regulations.

Other allegations contained in the complaint are:

- Buses now operating for Northgate are inadequate and incapable of providing timely service.

- Northgate has failed to have a proper mechanic check its buses for safety defects.

- Northgate has failed to properly maintain an office in the city for dissemination of information to the general public.

- The company has been discourteous to the general public.

- Northgate has failed to properly keep and maintain records as required by the PUC.

- Buses are not clean and sanitary or in good condition.

- The financial position of Northgate makes it impossible to give proper service to the public, to maintain its buses, and to operate the buses in top shape.

- In truth and in fact the company is not solvent in order to meet the requirements of the PUC's rules, regulations and orders.

- Northgate does not properly load passengers on its vehicles, causing a public hazard.

- Personnel to operate the buses are improperly trained and do not know the routes.

Polonsky stated that Northgate had its franchise suspended by the State Franchise Tax Board for non-payment of taxes from May 6, 1971 to Nov. 27, 1974, and failed to notify either the PUC or Daly City.

A city hall spokesman said Northgate officials had informed him insurance would be obtained by the company, perhaps Wednesday and buses would be back on the streets by Thursday.

However, Polonsky said his instructions to ask the PUC to revoke Northgate's franchise were not contingent on whether the company got insurance at this point or not.

"I was told to seek revocation of Northgate's permit, and that is what I am doing," Polonsky said.

Pacifica Council Mulls Freeway 380 Vote

Will the proposed Route 380 highway at last be put on a Pacifica election ballot? Pacifica Mayor Stanley Farber told the crowd at Monday night's City Council meeting that the matter would be on the May 12 council agenda.

The short Bay to Coast freeway is open or is under construction through San Bruno, but ends in a flat stub at Junipero Serra Freeway, where the ridge and a wall of environmentalist opposition have stopped it.

Pacifica Mayor Stanley Farber mentioned the possible ballot measure in answer to an inquiry from Mrs. Ruth Steege, 20 Canal Ave., about the chances of repairing Sharp Park Road, which 380 is intended to replace.

Farber said city gas tax and revenue sharing opportunities had been used elsewhere "because other things were considered more important."

But Sharp Park Road "is deteriorating now," Mrs. Steege replied, adding "I'm just questioning the priorities. I guess

DC Youth Flees County's Camp

A 15-year-old Daly City youth who escaped from the county's Camp Glenwood early April 21 was found a short time later hiding in the bushes near Applejack's in La Honda, sheriff's deputies reported.

The youth told deputies he had been

Mission Merchants Curious

Where Are the Meter Funds?

The question of what has happened to Daly City's parking meter revenues over the years was raised Thursday at a general meeting of the Mission Merchants Association.

Mission Street and Junipero Serra Boulevard areas are the only two areas in the city that have parking meters.

City Manager David Rowe attempted to field questions on the issue by pointing out the only existing guidelines on what to do with money derived from the parking meters is contained in section 17.81 of the Daly City code.

Rowe said the law stipulates the revenues can be used "to provide for the proper regulation, control and inspection of traffic upon the public streets."

For years, the Mission merchants have argued the revenues from the meters could only be used for parking and traffic problems in the Mission area.

But the regulation does not restrict such usage, Rowe explained.

In fact, the meters are barely able to pay their own way, Rowe said. The projected revenues from meters for 1974-75 is $27,100 with the cost of policing and maintenance at $26,950 — a net profit of $150.

Most revenues received by the city in this category are from meter-related traffic fines and other traffic violations.

Projected revenues from traffic fines for 1974-75 ending June 30 are $54,500, Rowe said.

It is from this fund the cost of leasing parking lots along Mission Street is paid for, Rowe said.

Contrary to what some people have charged in the past, the use of Mission Street and Junipero Serra Boulevard parking revenues for parking lots and other traffic projects "is not illegal," Rowe said.

He said there is nowhere in writing parking fines must go into a parking fund.

Since Merlo, past president of the Association, said unless Mission Street, now controlled by the State, is taken into the city "redevelopment just won't work."

Rowe, after explaining the high cost of maintaining Mission Street and revealing he did not think the State would give up the street, disagreed with Merlo by noting, "I don't think we should kiss off the redevelopment project because the State controls Mission Street."

Merchants Association Vice President George Smith said he had talked to a state representative last week and was informed the state did not want to give up Mission Street unless it could rid itself of the entire street.

"They don't want to just cut it off at San Jose Avenue," Smith said.

During the meeting, Rowe said Daly City's proposal to build a 225 car parking lot near the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station will be considered by the San Francisco Planning Commission on May 1.

Part of the lot is in San Francisco.

The proposal was made a year ago in an effort to relieve parking congestion around the station, Rowe said.

Daly City leased the property (See Page 2, Column 5).

Gasoline and Food Don't Mix DC Councilmen Agree

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The City Council of Daly City Monday upheld a Planning Commission decision denying a use permit to Atlantic Richfield Company for a convenience store in conjunction with a gasoline station in the Serramonte area.

The unanimous decision, with Councilman Paul Huff absent, came after some two hours of discussion.

ARCO attorney Mel Kerwin argued the store would provide a needed service for the community and would improve and enhance the appearance of the present station at the corner of Serramonte and Gellert Boulevards.

Councilman McRobert Stewart countered that within less than a mile there were two "mama-papa stores" engaged in the same type of business ARCO was proposing — except for the sale of gasoline.

Kerwin said ARCO's plan for the site included a so-called "convenience store" and a self-service gasoline station.

Overhead canopies now on the station would be taken down and the present sign replaced with a smaller one proclaiming "Food store."

Also, the number of pump islands would be reduced from four to two, it was explained.

The store would be owned, for the time being at least, by Prestige Stations, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of ARCO.

Mayor Victor Kyriakis raised the question of whether the gasoline station might be franchised separately from the convenience store later.

But Sharp Park Road "is deteriorating now," Mrs. Steege replied, adding "I'm just questioning the priorities. I guess beaten up four times during the past nine weeks by black inmates at the camp, and he had escaped because he had feared he would be beaten again. He said he hoped his escape would not spoil a turlough to his home scheduled for last weekend.

ARCO could, Kyriakis said, sever the store from the station.

Councilman Tony Giammona wanted to know what prices would be charged at the ARCO station.

ARCO representative M. S. Kephart, however, refused to answer unless "you clear the council chambers."

Kephart said this matter could not be discussed in public because of government rulings.

He acknowledged the presence of other independent service station dealers in the audience as another reason for not wanting to discuss prices.

Independent service station dealers' representative Don Bevilacqua said he opposed issuance of a use permit to ARCO for the store.

"In my time I've dispensed jams, jellies, jars and anything else to induce people to buy my gasoline," Bevilacqua said.

He said the only reason ARCO wanted the convenience store "was to induce and stimulate gasoline sales" at the Serramonte location.

The station was opened in 1969 after months of discussion before the Planning Commission and council.

Stiff opposition from homeowners' groups in the area was voiced before both bodies.

But the use permit was granted for the station and a car wash, to be built later.

This car wash was needed to stimulate business and provide a public service, the council and planners were told at the time, according to records.

It was never built.

There are six other service stations within a quarter of a mile from the ARCO site.

Of these, two have automatic car washes, opened since ARCO's permit was issued.

What the council fears is that if a precedent is set by granting ARCO the convenience store permit, the city's remaining 54 service stations might demand they be allowed to sell everything from furniture to food.

Kyriakis said the issue boiled down to the meaning of the word "convenience."

He said one of the most important functions of a service station is to provide service to motorists who have car troubles, such as flat tires and engine failures.

"When we speak of convenience, is it more important to buy a carton of milk at a service station or continue to provide a service to the 'motoring' community," Kyriakis asked.

Councilman Stewart said there were merchants in the area already dispensing the type of merchandise ARCO proposed to sell.

Money for Mountain Park Denied

Daly City councilmen did not come up with any money Monday for the purchase of a regional park on San Bruno Mountain as requested by the County Board of Supervisors.

But they scraped together a few choice comments on why they did not intend to contribute to a regional park on the mountain.

Councilman McRobert Stewart said the county already is collecting some six cents per $100 of assessed valuation on the tax rolls for county parks.

Councilman William Schumacher said he believed the county supervisors have a long standing obligation to provide parks in the North County.

Mountain Report Hit

City Manager David Rowe of Daly City said Friday he was "amazed and bewildered" at recommendations contained in a fiscal analysis report concerning development of San Bruno Mountain.

The report was recently completed by Williams-Kuebel and Associates, Inc. It now is under study by cities, the county and environmentalist groups.

Rowe likened the report proposal that Brisbane get all of Crocker Industrial Park and Daly City inherit the population on the mountain to "cutting a babe in half to arrive at a compromise."

Daly City has stated throughout the whole study that the entire project, including the industrial park, must go to the same city to make annexation of the mountain financially feasible.

Rowe said: "I am amazed at the primary recommendation of the report that the project be split with the major population to Daly City and the industrial tax base going to Brisbane."

Rowe said: "The fiscal report is now in the hands of the San Mateo County Planning Commission."

In its 11-page summary of findings and recommendations, the report proposes the optimum option for annexation is to give the so-called Saddle Area of the mountain to Daly City and the balance of unincorporated area to Brisbane.

"Under this option and under the 'most probable' case and the 'worst case,' both Daly City and Brisbane receive substantial tax rate benefits," the report noted.

The "worst" case is considered to be when "everything goes wrong" in construction of the development, such as bad weather, supply shortages, and the consequence of a builder going broke. Rowe said.

Annexation of the planning areas was recommended after development was complete in order to preclude any negative fiscal impact during the development process, the report explained.

But prior agreement on annexation, design standards and planning processes among various jurisdictions is necessary for the orderly implementation of this recommendation.

Funding the development through the county most probably will result in expansion of the County Services Area (CSA No. 9) which the mountain is now under for taxing purposes, the report noted.

This would minimize any impact if a "worst case" should result during the development period, the report added.

An expanded CSA No. 9 would contract with what over annexing jurisdiction is decided upon during the development stage in order to provide what the report calls "a natural transition of control when annexation occurs."

There could be as many as 18 separate local entities affected by the development, the report noted.

Gunshot Misses Brisbane Policeman

A poor shot and a highway guardrail saved the life of a Brisbane police officer Sunday night as he stood on the side of Bayshore Freeway assisting a stalled motorist.

Officer Alan H. Duerson and Cadet Morgan Fay were stopped on the southbound shoulder of the highway about 11:15 p.m. giving aid to the stalled motorist when suddenly a shot was fired from a passing car, police said.

The bullet struck a guard rail a few feet from where Duerson was standing and deflected away from him, the intended victim, according to a report of the incident.

An all-points bulletin was broadcast for a late model Chevrolet Vega. However, the suspect vehicle managed to evade the police alert, it was reported.

The incident occurred about one-fourth mile north of the South San Francisco off-ramp to the freeway, Duerson said.

The suspect car was traveling northbound at a high rate of speed in the fast lane of the freeway, Duerson reported.

Bicentennial City Rating For Brisbane

Brisbane has become San Mateo County's fourth city to be recognized as a Bicentennial City by the National Bicentennial Committee.

Mayor Art Montenegro said Brisbane submitted a series of projects it planned to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday next year under the theme "heritage, heritage and festivals."

Four projects were covered, Montenegro said, including a book on Brisbane's history, a mobile museum for Indian artifacts, walkways through the city and Western Day celebrations in June.

Montenegro said the city was expected to receive a special bicentennial flag and certificate from the NBC.

"We will fly the flag in front of our city hall," Montenegro said.

North County Judge Plea Criticized

Two more judges are needed for the San Mateo County Superior Court, but not another one in North County, the Board of Supervisors was told April 22.

The supervisors met with the judges over lunch. "We don't need more judges at the north end," said Judge Melvin E. Cohn, noting that Daly City Mayor Victor G. Kyriakis recently requested that the Supervisors assign a judge to South San Francisco if the state legislature next month approves two new judges for San Mateo County.

Cohn noted that one superior court judge presently is assigned to South San Francisco. "Sixty per cent of his caseload is north-oriented, but the other 40 per cent is transferred from the south county to keep him busy," Cohn said.

The judge also said that it takes about two hours to transfer a case and its parties to South San Francisco.

Presiding Judge Robert D. Miller added that the assignment of judges is within the discretion of the judges, which the supervisors had earlier told North County officials.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee will hear testimony regarding the bid for two new judges at a hearing scheduled for May 8, according to Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City.

The county is considering several options concerning the complex, including its demolition.

"The judges are happy there," said Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley.

County Manager M. D. Tarshe noted that when the eight-story Hall of Justice near the Old Courthouse was constructed, the plans included housing of the municipal court judges in it.

After further exchange between judges and supervisors, Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald said. The

The lot would only operate as long as it was deemed necessary and then converted into a more profitable venture, it was recommended.

With the proposed BART multi-story $6.5 million garage slated to be constructed in the not too distant future west of the station, parking for some 300 cars will be disrupted.

City officials fear these cars will flood into nearby residential streets.

Man Stabbed In Daly City

A San Francisco man was reported in satisfactory condition Monday at San Francisco General Hospital where he was taken for treatment of a stab wound on the abdomen inflicted during an argument with three youths at the Daly City Cow Palace Saturday.

Police said Alfonso Mora, 32, of 6 Santos St., San Francisco, was involved in an altercation with three youths during the wrestling matches at the Cow Palace. He was taken to nearby San Francisco General Hospital for treatment.

Benjamin Green, 35, of 485 A Street, Daly City, was booked Saturday for warrants and possession of a loaded firearm, police said.

Gilbert Toscano, 24, of 563 Wyandotte St., Daly City, was booked for possession of marijuana and drunken driving shortly before 4 p.m. Saturday, police report.

About 7 a.m. Saturday, Police Sgt. Steve Aurilio spotted what he called "strange looking plants" growing in a pot in a second floor apartment at 261 Price St., No. 2, Daly City.

Aurilio said the plants turned out to be 15 marijuana plants.

Police allege Melvin Earl Lintz, 24, was sunning the three-month-old plants in a living room window. He was booked for cultivation and possession of marijuana.

Officer Dewey Hosmer and Sgt. Tom Barner arrested and booked for reckless driving and carrying a police "billy" club Phillip Favussa, 29, of 1420 Sweetwood Ave., Broadmoor.

Police stopped Favussa following an alleged "hot" chase which started about 1:23 a.m. at the corner of Eastmonte and Sullivan Avenues and ended less than a mile away.

A special fund raising concert will be held at Periwinkle Art Gallery, 122 Pedro Point, Pacifica, on May 2 at 8 p.m.

Pianist Maria Cisk will give a benefit recital for the "Music at the Gallery" Sunday afternoon programs.

The concert, co-sponsored by piano technician Sheldon Smith SMITH and Periwinkle Gallery, have existed two years. Funding of the programs is entirely dependent upon the attendance. This benefit concert will create a fund to pay future performers appropriately.

Concert pianist Maria Cisk was born in Germany of Ukrainian parents who emigrated to the United States when she was four. She grew up in New York, beginning early musical studies with her father, the late Wladimir Cisk, a fine concert violinist in his own right. Studies ultimately led to the Juilliard School, where she earned bachelors and masters degrees, and served as a teaching fellow in both music history and theory.

At the State University of New York in Binghamton, Miss Cisk taught on the piano and theory faculties, in addition to being student advisor and director of the men's glee club. She left SUNY at Binghamton to pursue further studies at the Yale University School of Music, where she earned a second masters degree and has completed work for a doctorate.

Currently Miss Cisk is director of the preparatory and extension divisions of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, where, in addition to full-time administrative responsibilities, she devotes time and attention to individual and classroom teaching.

As solo pianist and accompanist, Miss Cisk has performed in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Binghamton, Syracuse, Rochester, Hartford, Boston, New Haven, Washington D.C., and San Francisco.

Oyster Point EIR Approved

An environmental impact report on enlarging of the Oyster Point Marina has been approved by the state, and the State Department of Navigation and Ocean Development $1.2 million loan is forthcoming. The South San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission was told Thursday night.

The EIR now will go to the city Planning Commission for concurrence in May.

The DNOD money should be in hand by August, the staff reported.

The low-interest loan is to be used for planning and construction of 300 more boat berths, a new and enlarged concrete breakwater to replace the present wooden pilings structure, dry storage for 400 boats, a fishing pier, picnic area, two restaurants and a ship's chandlery.

This project would double the size of the 10-year-old Marina's berthing capacity and is expected to be done in three to four years. The loan was applied for two years ago.

Seven items were put on an agenda for a joint commission-City Council meeting May 14.

They include San Bruno Mountain development proposals, Colma Creek beautification, priority status of purchase of two lots for open space on Sign Hill, the Oyster Point development, status of the planned community center and the need for better communications between the park and recreation planning commissions and the council.

Filling of Council Seat Deadlocks Councilmen

"Here we go again," Colma City Clerk Blanche Lagomarsino commented after the four-member Town Council deadlocked over a replacement for resigned Councilman Earl H. Taylor Wednesday.

Mrs. Lagomarsino apparently was referring to incidents in the past in which the council locked on various issues. But with a five-member council, the stalemates were broken.

Now, with an even 2-2 split over who will replace Taylor, the matter probably will go to the voters for a decision.

Taylor had another 10 months to go on term. Poor health was cited for his stepping down on April 9.

Under the law, the council has 30 days to appoint a replacement. If agreement is not reached by then, it is put to a general vote of the people of Colma.

City Atty. Robert Cornell noted that once the grace period had passed, the council would have not less than 68 days not more than 89 days to set a public election.

But a new law aimed at consolidating elections specifies such elections can only be held at certain times of the year.

Colma may have to wait until November to hold an election, it was explained.

Councilman Eugene Daneluz nominated Elsie Campbell to the post, while Wallace Honeywell nominated Albert Bell.

When it came time for the voting, Councilman Raymond Ottoboni backed Honeywell and Mayor Fred Garbini supported Daneluz.

Garbini said he voted on the "basis of the merits of a person, not just because I think someone should be on the council."

He said later Mrs. Campbell had attended most council meetings in recent years and had worked on committees for Colma.

Meanwhile, the council agreed to hold a special meeting before the May 10 deadline to see if a compromise has been reached.

Garbini said he doubted any such agreement would be reached, predicting the matter would go to the voters.

Cost of holding an election in Colma is nominal. There is only one precinct.

Cornell said he in the meantime would approach State Attorney General Evelle Younger to seek approval of an earlier election date.

By the time we hold an election in November and swear in the successful candidate, the term would just about be up, one observer remarked.

Pacifican Arrested

Danny Lucero, the Pacifican embroiled in a custody battle for his illegitimate son, was supposed to start serving a 60-day jail sentence April 18.

The sentence was handed down by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Frank Pivarino two weeks ago in a South San Francisco burglary case.

The judge stayed the sentence for one week, noting, "You are getting a break. If you appear again, you've used up all your breaks."

Then, he was arrested again April 18 by San Francisco police, who charged him with possession of stolen property, mail theft and being under the influence of drugs.

Lucero was arrested again Wednesday by Daly City policeman Ken Cole for alleged possession of a hypodermic needle and syringe. Police said the syringe contained what is believed to be heroin.

Lucero's arrest came after a routine traffic stop in Daly City about 6:15 p.m.

Colma Council Bans Smoking in Chambers

What do carpets and smoking have in common?

Both end up on the floor — and the carpet is usually the loser.

Colma recently installed new carpeting throughout its Town Council chamber and some officials now fear the investment may be ruined if a careless smoker drops a hot ash or snuffs out a cigarette on the floor.

With this in mind, the council Wednesday unanimously agreed that smoking would be banned in the chambers.

City Atty. Robert Cornell was instructed to draft an ordinance concerning the ban.

In other action, the Colma council approved the hiring of an additional policeman, bringing the department under Chief Jim Dorris to five. The hiring will be effective Aug. 1.

Under a present $48,000 annual contract, police services are provided by Broadmoor.

This contract expires on Aug. 14.

DEDICATED MOTHER

Dorothy DeBolt, founder of AASK (Aid to Adoption of Special Kids) and mother of 19 children, many of them handicapped and multi-racial, was guest speaker at the Press Club of San Francisco recently. She spoke about the heart-rending and also heart-warming experiences with her family, and received a spontaneous standing ovation upon completion of her talk. At the event were (from left) Mmes. Edward R. Hill, Murray H. Freedman of Daly City, Mrs. De Bolt, and Mrs. Millard Smith. Mrs. De Bolt adopted two Vietnamese children, who were in the recent crash in Vietnam. One girl is paralyzed, and one is blind.

Personal License Plates Forms Available

Assemblyman Louis Papan (Dem.-San Mateo Co.) announced this his district office now has available instructions and application forms for ordering the new "Environmental License Plates."

"Besides being fun to display and easy to identify, your personalized plates show your concern for a better environment in California," Papan said. "Also they have an added benefit of being a form of their insurance, and declare you to be a safe motorist."

Papan explained that each year to renew the plates is transferred to the California Environment Protection Fund. In the past money from this fund has been used to purchase ecological reserves for the protection of rare and endangered animal species, research into the control of air and water pollution and conservation education.

Persons wishing to obtain the special license plates can pick up application forms at any office of the Dept. of Motor Vehicles or by calling Assemblyman Papan's office in Daly City. The phone number is 756-4400.

'It Fills a Definite Need'

Hospital Opens Transitional Care Unit

A Transitional Care Unit (TCU), designed for patients requiring intense observation has been opened at Mary's Help Hospital.

According to Gussie Keys, R.N., patient care coordinator for the Transitional Care Unit, the decision to open the new unit was based in part on increased activity in the Intensive Care and Coronary Care Units (ICU-CCU).

"The facilities in ICU-CCU are needed for the most critical cases," Mrs. Keys said.

"However, some less critically ill patients, especially select post-surgical patients, need close observation immediately following surgery for a short period of time. In addition, patients recovering from critical illnesses need a midway point following their ICU or CCU care."

The Medical-Dental Staff ICU-CCU TCU committee, chaired by Paul J. Phlyk, M.D., sets the policies of the Transitional Care Unit. This committee also routinely evaluates the effectiveness of the Unit.

There are eight beds in the new unit which is located on the tenth floor, adjacent to the Coronary Care Unit. Four of the beds are reserved for post surgical patients, while the others are used for patients monitored by telemetry equipment.

These remote control devices monitor a patient's heart rate during his daily routine which is observed closely by the nursing staff at the central monitor.

Said Gussie Keys: "The Transitional Care Unit fills a definite need for the extended rehabilitation and evaluation of coronary care patients.

The new unit is new enough to Coronary Care for the immediate treatment of any complications that may arise. The average patient stay in TCU is three to four days.

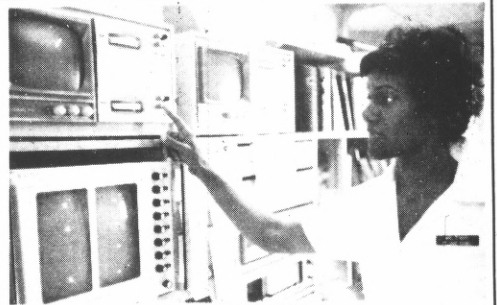

Jessie Miller, director of nursing service called the new unit "an important step in the hospital's progressive care program."

She added: "A patient may now progress from the critical care areas to the new Transitional Care Unit before being transferred to the general nursing units then, if necessary, to the Skilled Nursing Facility (SNF).

This progression will make it possible to observe the patient more closely at each stage of his recovery period."

"We are looking forward to the new unit as another concept in improving patient care at Mary's Help Hospital," Jessie Miller said.

MONITORING

Gussie Keys, R.N., patient care coordinator for the Transitional Care Unit, studies a telemetry screen which monitors the heartbeat of TCU patients.

Pancake Breakfast

The Daly City Host Lions Club has announced a pancake breakfast will be held at Jefferson High School, May 4, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Purpose of the breakfast is to raise money for the Youth and Community Activities Fund of the club, and to promote more recreational activities in the Daly City-Colma area.

The breakfast is timed to take place while the Jefferson High School Student Body is sponsoring a carnival at the school.

All members of the public are urged to attend. Tickets are available at the door at $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Volunteer labor will be provided by Lions Club members, including Councilman McRobert Stewart, Director of Recreation Ed Tomasello, local businessman Charles Lewkowitz, Jim Zvika, vice-principal of Jefferson High School, and Lt. Tom Culley of the Daly City Police Department. They will be aided by volunteer members of the Daly City Police Explorer Post.

Holy Angels Wins Spelling Bee

Grand Knight Rich Rusting reports Marian Council No. 373, Knights of Columbus, recently held its sixth annual Spelling Bee at Holy Angels Parish Hall.

In announcing the results Rusting said, "This year's Spelling Bee attracted over 300 parents, teachers, and friends, proving there is still an interest in what students are doing scholastically. It is undoubtedly one of the most fulfilling activities we have sponsored and this year's contest had all the excitement of an athletic contest."

The tie-breaking word, "embarrass," occurred in the 58th round, which lasted over two hours, and 340 words were used.

Each of the five participating schools held preliminary contests in their respective schools and sent three top spellers to the finals.

Summer School Signups Open

Principal Conrad P. Mezzetta announced that registration for junior high summer school in the South San Francisco Unified School District is now being accepted.

The program is open to all current sixth through the eighth graders living within boundaries of the school district, and attending either a public or private school.

The scheduling plan for this year's summer school will permit students to attend school and still have time to go on vacation with their parents. Students will have the option of enrolling in one or both of the four 14 week sessions to be offered. The dates for the first session are June 23 through July 18. The second session will begin on July 21 and end on Aug. 14.

This year's program provides a broad spectrum of courses for the improvement of basic academic skills as well as enrichment experiences not generally available during the regular school year.

Course offerings include: Reading improvement, basic English, skills, math improvement, survey of science, beginning guitar, arts and crafts, painting and sketching, sewing, use of common tools, Olympic activities, and swimming.

Transportation will be provided for students who live more than one and one-half miles from the Summer School Site, Southwood Junior High School. Registration forms and additional information may be obtained through your local school or by writing to the Junior High Summer School Office at 398 "B" St., South San Francisco 94080, or calling 388-7534.

LWV Meeting to Focus On Congress, President

The May 6 meeting of the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County will be held at St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate, Daly City from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

The subject for discussion will be the relationship of the Presidency to the Congress. Richard Bloomer, instructor in the Political Science Department, San Francisco City College will be the guest speaker. He is a graduate of California State University, Fresno and holds a J.D. degree from the University of California, Berkeley.

The League will ask such questions as: How much of a check do you think congress should have on the president's decisions? How accountable should the president be to congress, especially in the field of foreign policy? What of the future of the presidency? Would a dual presidency with a Council of State resolve some of the existing problems? Should a no-confidence vote by congress bring about a change of presidents?

Mrs. Beverly Walker of Daly City is in charge of the study.

Visitors are welcome to League meetings and are invited to join in the discussions.

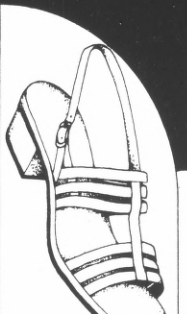

Buhsitting is provided at a nominal fee.

Louanne Heath

The OLM Roundup makes its debut tomorrow afternoon at 1 p.m. with a preview staged entirely for the children of the parish, according to Mrs. James Dougherty, the publicity chairman.

The fun begins for the younger set at 1 p.m. and lasts until 5 p.m. when everyone will go home and catch a bit of rest before the official start of the spring festival at 7 p.m.

James McCann, the general chairman, has announced that the hours of the festival will be from 7 p.m. until 11 p.m. tomorrow, 7 p.m. until midnight on Friday and from 1 p.m. until midnight on Saturday and Sunday. All the activities will be centered in the parish hall of Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church, 7 Elmwood Drive in Daly City.

Reservations are still available for the dinner to be catered by Joe's of Westlake Saturday from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m. Dinners will be served in the parish hall, or arrangements may be made for take-out orders. Call Mrs. Frank Koleschova, 755-7732 or Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn, 755-6548, for tickets. Cost per adult will be only $2 and children's dinners will cost $1. All reservations must be in by Thursday evening.

This is a fun event, with everyone winning lots of prizes and having a barrel of fun in the process. Plan to spend a few hours at an old-fashioned, family-type festival this weekend. Everyone is welcome!

THE SAN FRANCISCO Alumnae Chapter, Alpha Iota, will hold its annual Mother-Daughter luncheon this weekend at Smorga Bob's restaurant in San Pablo, according to Mrs. Barbara Wolowic, the luncheon chairman.

Localities who haven't as yet made reservations are urged to call Mrs. Wolowic immediately, 681-0828, for tickets.

IF YOU like thousands of others in Daly City, moved to this area from the San Francisco's Excelsior district, you may find this Saturday an excellent day for renewing old acquaintances. On May 3 the Balboa High School Alumni Association will celebrate its fifth anniversary with a school reunion to be held at the University of San Francisco.

Mrs. Emily Sumrall is the chairman of the party, which will begin with no-host cocktails at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 8:15 and dancing until 1 p.m.

Door prizes, school plays, school songs and an exhibition of dances popular through the forty odd years since the school first opened its doors will be featured along with a tribute to several retired faculty members including Marie Scribante, Ralph Kauer, Emilie Stone, Leta Painter Wheeler, June Farris, Orren Qualls, Carl Mitchell, Frances Todd and John McCallister.

Last minute reservations may still be made by calling Mrs. Sumrall, 826-8046, after 6 p.m. Tickets are available for $9.50 per person. (Be sure to inquire as to whether or not your class is having a mini-reunion.)

DALY CITY GIRL Scout leaders are well into preparations for summer. The Day Camp training session is set underway May 7, with Carole Ann Scott, Day Camp Director, doing the honors in Gelfert Park. There will be two training sessions, one May 7 and the second May 14. Both classes will begin at 10 a.m. and will conclude at 2 p.m.

Day Camp for this area will be August 4 through 7 and August 11 through 14. Troops wishing to participate must have one trained adult leader for each six girls registered. Mrs. Scott will have registration forms available, and forms with money included may be returned to Mrs. Shirley Egonie, 327 Higuete, Daly City.

Girl Scouts were very much in evidence at the Annual Northern Workshop of the Friends of the California Libraries, which was held earlier this month at Serramonte High School.

One Out of Three Cancer Patients Saved

By MICHELLE CARTER
Post Staff Writer

When the doctor pronounces the word "cancer," he's confirming the patient's worst fears, and no matter how hopeful and encouraging he might be to most people, he's decreed a death sentence.

But has he really? Despite the paralyzing, unproductive fear a diagnosis of cancer can create, the American Cancer Society reports that there are 1,500,000 Americans alive today who have had cancer and defeated it. The society even goes so far as to label cancer "one of the most curable of the major diseases in the country."

One out of every three cancer patients today is saved, and the Cancer Society believes that figure would climb to one in two if the disease were detected early and treated promptly.

It has an encouraging ring to it, but every one of us has first-hand knowledge of people who have lost their lives to cancer and that makes a pretty strong argument in itself.

But the chances are equally good that each of us also knows someone who has been cured of cancer — although we might not be aware of it. Deaths make headlines, but cures often go unreported.

Meet some of the victors:

Virginia Hupf is a Daly City housewife and mother of two daughters in their early twenties. When she was diagnosed with breast cancer and newly married, breast cancer was detected, and she underwent a mastectomy for the removal of a breast.

Three months after her surgery, Mrs. Hupf discovered she was pregnant. Her doctors advised an abortion, but she declined on religious grounds. Then the doctor suggested that the other breast should be removed "as a precaution."

Mrs. Hupf found another doctor who didn't think that a second operation was necessary, so she allowed her pregnancy to continue without the operation or the abortion, and her first daughter was born without incident.

Then 21 months later I was pregnant again, and again everything went smoothly. Those were the only children I was ever to have, but if I had followed the doctor's advice I might never have had my daughters, so I feel terribly lucky. Mrs. Hupf said.

She never did have to have the second mastectomy.

Mrs. Hupf volunteers regularly at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City and works with Reach to Recovery, the program in which former mastectomy patients meet with new patients to help them through the initial trauma of the operation.

"Of course, when I had my surgery 26 years ago, there wasn't anything like Reach to Recovery and we had to find our way alone. Just to see someone who has been through the same thing helps. Those were the very helpful, and it's very rewarding to me," Mrs. Hupf said.

But I sometimes wonder if the doctors are all aware of the program. As a volunteer at Mary's Help I see a lot of mastectomy patients who aren't contacted by Reach to Recovery. But we can't visit a patient unless the doctor requests it."

Dan Themoleas, a Daly City gardener, underwent a colostomy for cancer in 1965 and now 20 years later volunteers time with the ACS to counsel new colostomy patients. He lost his wife to cancer three years ago, but it hasn't affected his positive attitude about the disease and overcoming it.

"I had five children to support and I had to get well. If you've made up your mind you're going to get well, you will," Themoleas said.

"When I came out of the hospital, I didn't know that I could go to the Cancer Society for help. But when my wife was sick, they were so helpful loaning us equipment and things so I decided to do what I could for them."

When he visits a patient, Themoleas makes a point that he does hard, physical labor on his job and that the patient can expect to be able to do that too.

"So many of them worry about little things that really don't matter. It has its problems, but I've accepted it and learned to live with it."

The Cancer Society also calls on Themoleas to talk with Greek patients since he speaks the language.

Harold Thomas of Millbrae is a living monument to overcoming adversity. Four and a half years ago Thomas, who was then a division personnel manager for PG&E in San Francisco, underwent a laryngectomy to remove his voice box after cobalt treatment proved unsuccessful.

Thomas left Peninsula Hospital in 1970 without the ability to speak, but today he travels all over the Bay Area talking to groups and visiting individual laryngectomy patients using esophageal speech.

After his surgery, there was no therapist or speech pathologist in the county teaching esophageal speech, and Thomas had to travel to San Francisco for speech therapy classes provided by the San Francisco Night Adult Educational Program.

"I needed my voice to go back to work and, I was determined to go back. When I learned esophageal speech, my boss encouraged me to come back to my old job," Thomas explained in a perfectly lucid speaking voice.

He compares esophageal speech to talking during a belch. He first learned to make the sounds of the vowels, then simple words and finally he advanced to phrases and sentences. His wife attests to the hours of practice he put in and his dogged determination to succeed.

Now there are laryngectomy classes on the Peninsula, and Thomas often assists Dr. John Wingo, a therapist who teaches esophageal speech. He also is a visiting member of the Lost Chord Club of Northern California.

Thomas too finds counseling laryngectomy patients especially rewarding.

"I called on one man twice. He was refusing surgery, but after we talked he agreed to it and now he's coming to classes."

Themoleas and Mrs. Hupf, who had their operations over 20 years ago, noted that "cancer was taboo then. No one talked about it."

"When I went back to work after my operation, they asked me what it was for. I told them, and they fired me," Mrs. Hupf added. "It still happens you know. I guess they think you'll spread the disease or you'll be a hazard on the job."

VIRGINIA HUPF

In 1948, Mrs. Hupf underwent a mastectomy, the removal of a breast because of cancer. Here she is photographed checking supplies at Mary's Help Hospital where she is a regular volunteer.

Themoleas noted that the same problem exists with health and life insurance. Insurance companies put riders into policies that exclude former patients from collecting in certain cases, he said.

Are these three obviously vital people haunted by the knowledge that they have had cancer and the fear that it might return?

"It's been so many years I don't even think about it. Maybe we're immune like with childhood diseases," Mrs. Hupf said.

"It's very sad that when we see or hear of cancer, we immediately think of a close friend who has died of it — not of the thousands who are enjoying good health after having it," Thomas said. "There is reason to hope."

Workshops for Parents

Learning by Doing Rather Than Listening

By MICHELLE CARTER
Post Staff Writer

What do a child opening padlocks and hinges, a child shaking sealed cans of rice, beads and sand, and a child sorting buttons into an egg carton have in common?

Only the fact that all three are learning by doing — specifically doing some of the tasks described in "Workbooks for Parents: Activity-Centered Learning in the Home" (Addison-Wesley, $3.95), a soft-bound book by Mary Baratta-Lorton.

Ms. Baratta-Lorton, a San Jose kindergarten teacher who is currently on leave, believes in activity-centered learning, learning that is acquired by doing rather than listening, and her classrooms reflect her commitment.

Her students don't sit quietly in their desks hovering noiselessly over workbooks. Her students are buzzing around in small groups tackling their "workbooks" — tasks that Ms. Baratta-Lorton has designed as learning experiences for young minds.

She collected the tasks into a book for fellow teachers who were interested in activity-centered learning but unsure of how to progress. The original "Workbooks" book was so successful, she has followed up with the newly-published "Workbooks for Parents."

Many of the parents in ECE (early childhood education) classes using the first Workbooks book for teachers began making some of the activities at home, but there was nothing written specifically for parents. So I pulled out of the first book about half of the activities that could be used by parents at home.

In an introductory letter to parents at the beginning of the book, Ms. Baratta-Lorton explains why the term "workbooks" came from.

"The children in my classes called the activities their 'work' or their 'jobs'. One day a child put the words together as a joke — and it stuck."

The book is "designed to help children develop language and number skills, as well as more general skills such as hand-eye coordination, observing, seeing relationships and making judgments." The tasks require such simple components as empty toilet tissue rolls, buttons, egg cartons, baby food jars, sponges, sand, paper and other items that usually can be assembled for very little expense.

In one task two children sit in front of a board on which the outlines of objects are drawn. The children have a box of small items that fit into the outlines on the board, and between the two of them, they place the items into the proper outlines.

While developing such skills as observing and matching similarities, the children also are encouraged to expand on what they have accomplished when a parent asks the children to "Show me something that's out" or "something that's used to hold things together" or "How many objects are green."

To Ms. Baratta-Lorton, the exchange between the parent and child is perhaps the most vital ingredient in the "workbooks."

Talking with their children should be second nature to parents and teachers, but that's not always the case. Some parents, especially inner-city parents, are hesitant to do that sort of thing. It's not part of their life style, and they need an opportunity created for them to talk with their child.

The relationship between parents and children is most important. Some parents think being a good parent is going out and spending $10 at Kiddie World, but they've missed the point.

While she is on leave, Ms. Baratta-Lorton, who is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, is working on a mathematics book for educationally handicapped third through sixth grade students. Her husband, Bob Baratta-Lorton, also teaches and now is working on a mathematics book which he refers to as an "alternative to textbooks."

Both are critical of educators who depend on the classic textbook to do the teaching. They both believe that children learn by doing things, not by reading about things. They hope that "Workbooks" will carry that message home to parents who will see that their children continue to be stimulated by "doing" even when they get only textbook education in school.

Parents have to keep in mind that life is a journey, not a destination and they should enjoy the trip. Appreciate the stages the children are at. We don't blame them for not all weighing the same at the same time, but we do blame them for not all learning to multiply at the same time.

NELL

Good morning, good cooks.

When you have one of those days when everything just everything goes wrong, what do you do to get it out of your system? Cry, slam doors, yell at the kids, kick the cat, scrub floors, stop talking or just snarl at the world in general?

In the first place, I hope that "one of those days" doesn't come into your life very often, but if it does here is a suggestion that came from a friend.

I was describing one of those days in my life and my friend Donna Allard gave me the perfect solution: bake some cookies. But not just any cookies, a very special recipe called Aggression Cookies.

AGGRESSION COOKIES

1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1 1/2 cups margarine
3 cups rolled oats
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cups flour

Chocolate chips, raisins or nuts may be added.

In a large mixing bowl combine the one and one-half cups each brown sugar and margarine, three cups rolled oats, one and one-half teaspoons each baking soda and vanilla and one and one-half cups flour.

Knead and squish with your hands until mixed or until you've worked out all your hostilities. If you feel particularly aggressive you can double the recipe.

I added a cup each of raisins, nuts and chocolate bits and worked them in well. Roll into walnut-size balls of dough. Place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten each cookie with bottom of a glass that's been buttered and dipped in sugar.

Bake in 350-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until a golden brown.

Yields about five dozen large cookies (with the nuts, raisins and chocolate bits added).

Art Events Attract

El Camino Students

El Camino High School students are preparing for three public art exhibits.

El Camino's 14th school art show will be held in the school library May 12-14. Parents and friends are invited to view the show on Tuesday from 8:30-9 p.m.

Outstanding work in the exhibit will be awarded ribbons in the categories of design, drawing, painting, crafts, photography, ceramics and sculpture.

Immediately following the El Camino High School students may be seen at the South San Francisco Unified School District's Art Fair Schools in the central part of the city including Avalon, Hunt Hunt, El Rancho, Pom-denosa and Serra Vista Elementary schools, Alta Loma and Southwood Junior High schools and El Camino High School. In addition, ceramics students will demonstrate working on the potter's wheel.

Schools in the western part of the city will display art work on the same date at Westborough Junior High School and in the eastern part at Parkway Junior High School.

The Cost of Raising a Child

It costs $214,776 to raise a girl and pay her expenses through graduate school. At least that's what it cost in 1974. Raising a boy is cheaper, but not much. According to "Esquire" magazine, the March 1974 issue, raising a boy cost $203,028.

Just in case you think that's all there is to it, the "Esquire" editors write, "Now you know what your child is going to cost; you're going to need insurance to pay for it in case you're not around; so add $16,200 for 25 years of insurance."

But that's not all. Think of the money the mother could earn, in this day of liberated women and add another $101,430. No wonder a Daly City attorney told a brother, "I can't invest in stocks, I have children."

Listen to this: "Esquire" reports that a boy between the ages of 12-17, eats $5,814 worth of food. From six to eleven he eats $4,332 and from one year through five he eats $3,000 worth, that's $13,142 for food for a boy before he gets old enough to go away to college and cut up another $1,274 worth. Although girls don't consume as much food, they make up the difference in the clothes and cosmetics classes.

The March 1974 issue of "Esquire" is a classic that should be read by adults the country over. The issue begins with 21 facts of life and ends with a sigh in a poem entitled "A Certain Weariness" by Pablo Nerude which is a parents cry against such things as the prattle about a good education, as fast grips, as monuments to the titans of industry and of filling up the world with things that do not leave the newborn to grow in peace.

AMONG THE 21 facts of life such disclosures such as, in five years the number of people who were sterilized rose from 200,000 to 1,100,000. In 12 years the number of babies born in U.S. hospitals declined 16 per cent. In two years after the legalization of abortion in New York, the number of births in the city dropped 17,000. In Los Angeles the number of adoptions declined 50 per cent in six years. Consequently the nation's largest baby-food producer has been forced to manufacture peanut butter and ketchup.

"Esquires" March 1974 issue is one of many publications that prove that the traditional American family is due for some painful changes. In the words of Jane Wilson our age is showing that "A child is mother's creation, from the ground up, and also her credential as a worthy member of society." This is true in spite of all the equality mother achieves in the world outside the home. Thus Wilson writes, "... if Junior turns out to be something less than mommy's masterpiece then we'll know who's to blame."

An article in "Esquire" entitled "The Baby's Second Story" explores the world of toys from dolls that look like the president to robots that say "wipe your nose" and "your hair is so long you look like a girl." Another article is devoted to the rage of black children. Still another is an essay in pictures entitled "Conceived in Liberty." It notes that love babies are those conceived by parents who have not bothered with wedlock.

Surely the March 1974 issue of "Esquire" is significant reading.

Crime Pamphlet Available

Somewhere in the United States, a prowler enters a person's home every 15 seconds.

Of the $400 million stolen annually in personal property only five per cent is recovered.

Personal assaults are frequently the result of the failure of people to safeguard their homes and to know how to deal with an assailant on the public street.

This plus other data involving crime prevention, is contained in a special pamphlet entitled "Focus on Crime Prevention." A limited number has been printed for distribution through local police departments and the office of the Citizens' Active Participation through Utilization of Relevant Education (CAPTURE). Its offices are located at 1670 S. Amphlett Blvd., Suite 224 in San Mateo.

The continuing need is to stimulate public interest and participation in the federal funded crime prevention program being conducted by CAPTURE. Those who wish to find out more about it may telephone the CAPTURE office.

Recently a special session was held at Sunnybrae School in San Mateo, involving law enforcement officials to discuss the criminal justice system, the problems of residential and business burglaries, education programs for youth, senior citizens. The program included women's awareness of the need for self protection. The program also included physical planning for communities to increase protection against crime by having improved street lighting and building codes.

Brochures distributed during the session deal with residential burglary, reporting a crime and personal assault.

It is noted: "To be personally attacked or robbed is a most terrifying experience. Here are some brief hints on how to respond to assault."

"The police urge you not to carry a gun or knife. If you are not skilled in the use of these weapons, they can be turned on you. You can carry a police whistle and small flashlight on your key chain where they are readily available."

"Make it a habit to carry your key chain in a pocket, not in your purse. If your purse is stolen, you'll still have your keys. And you should never put your name and address on your house or car keys, as this simply tells the thief who you are, and where you live."

"If you are ever attacked, don't try to fight with your attacker, unless you are sure you can overpower him."

"If you must be out at night alone, stay in well lighted areas. Walk close to the street lights, staying well away from dark corners, alleys, doorways, or heavily wooded areas."

"Don't carry anything more valuable than you can afford to lose, and it's a good idea to hide your billfold somewhere other than in your purse. Always leave all unnecessary credit cards at home. When you shop and carry a purse, put it in your shopping bag."

Robbery and purse snatch are crimes which can be easily prevented when you take away the irresistible opportunity for the thief. Most purse snatchers are youngsters under the age of 18 who may have discussed purse snatching with friends, and who are waiting for the next perfect opportunity. They don't want to take the risk, however, unless there's a prize to be had, so hide the prize and protect yourself."

CAPTURE's Project Director is San Mateo Police Chief J. L. Coppock. Ann Marquart is administrative coordinator.

Participating agencies include every police department in San Mateo County and the sheriff's office.

Mountain EIR Airing Deferred by Planners

Rejecting protests of the prospective developers, the San Mateo County Planning Commission Wednesday moved back the scheduled hearing date for the environmental impact report and general plan amendments for San Bruno Mountain from May 14 to June 25.

The state, the Association of Bay Area Governments, the Cities of Brisbane and South San Francisco and the Save San Bruno Mountain Committee requested the extension to provide additional time in which to review a fiscal analysis report concerning the proposed development of a community which would house 18,500 persons.

Robert L. Follett, general manager of Visitation Associates, which plans the development, protested the extension.

He said that it is costing $5,000 a day in expenses concerning planning and development and that it will be the future homeowners who will have to pay the costs.

Follett contended that rising costs already have priced 50 per cent of the prospective buyers out of the market.

Tom Adams, an attorney for the Legal Aid Society and a member of the Save San Bruno Mountain Committee, contended, on the other hand, that a group of volunteers is in the process of drafting comments concerning the environmental impact report and that it hasn't had time to complete the job. He noted that the proposed development would be the "largest project in the history of San Mateo County."

Assistant Dist. Atty. Henry A. Dietz informed the commission that there was nothing to prohibit granting of an extension of time for the hearing.

"You must provide time for public and lead agency review," he stated. "The planning commission has the authority to grant an extension on its own discretion."

The commission voted unanimously to reschedule the hearing for June 25.

DC Senior Regents' Scholar

Lynn McNeil, a senior at Serramonte High School, has been named a Regents' Scholar at the University of California at Berkeley.

Carrying with it a full four-year scholarship, this appointment is the most distinguished that the Board of Regents can accord a student. It is offered on the advice of a faculty committee after careful review of the student's academic achievement and other accomplishments which, taken together, provide clear evidence of the student's ability to undertake a course of study at the University and to complete it with excellence.

This scholarship is especially prestigious this year since only 65 of the very top students out of the many hundreds of applicants were chosen on the basis of grades, test scores, character and promise.

Brisbane Quarry Gets Planners' Concept OK

A new concept plan for the continued operation of the Brisbane quarry for perhaps as long as another 10 years was approved last week by the San Mateo County Planning Commission and will be forwarded to the board of supervisors.

In a report to the commission, Peter Twight, natural resources coordinator for the county planning department, said the quarry, situated in Guadalupe Valley about one mile from Brisbane, has been leased by Crocker Land Co. to Quarry Products, Inc. for phasing out this year under the current five-year permit.

However, he noted, Quarry Products believes it has the capability of continuing and upgrading the quarry operation for two five-year periods.

Approval of the concept plan will result in full-scale planning and environmental analysis by the firm for an initial five-year period.

Twight said long-range plans for the Crocker Industrial Park include utilization of the 27-acre quarry site after the proposed quarrying is completed.

Twight reported that Quarry Products will begin upgrading and modernizing equipment, building a 40-foot-tall earth wall and planting of vegetation.

Permit Action Delayed

Opposition from various property owners has held up a zoning ordinance amendment establishing minimum setbacks and use permit requirements in the South San Francisco Bay side industrial area.

The South San Francisco Planning Commission April 22 decided to wait for Planner David Hale and his staff to draw up "a practical system" of public access trails along the waterfront within a 100-yard proposed setback area rather than recommend the ordinance amendment adoption now.

Hale told the commission it would be late summer or early fall before his design proposals would be finished, adding that he plans to work with the property owners on this.

The commissioners heard some heated and concerted opposition from several major industrial owners during a field trip of the proposed bayfront strip last Thursday, along with some alternative approaches, and has decided to have Hale look into them.

Mother of the Year Enricketta Romano

Our nomination for the "Mother of the Year" has to go to Enricketta Romano, mother of Pacifica's popular restaurant, Enrico Romano. This sweet lady has been in charge of the pizza production at Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach for at least 25 years, and she still never misses a kitchen shift. "Pitching pizzas keeps me young," says the "80 years young" Enricketta with a warm smile. Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco is a convenient dinner stop for theatergoers. It's close to ten downtown theaters, and there is ample doordoor parking right at the Taylor and Ellis parking lot entrance. Finocchio's, a world famous night club on San Francisco's Broadway, has been a major attraction for the past 38 years. "Spotlight on Show Business," current review, has been praised by critics as one of the best in the club's colorful history. A cast of 14 female impersonators is featured in four shows nightly, Wednesdays through Sundays.

Early Evening Special Palo Alto Shirt Tail

Budget-conscious diners will be attracted to the new "Early Evening Dinner Specials" now being offered Mondays through Saturdays at the Shirt Tail, in Palo Alto. These special complete dinners, which are served from 4 to 7 p.m., offer a choice of soup or salad and are priced at $9.95. Each week the specials change. Featured this week are Club Sirloin Steak, Sea Scallops, Chicken Parmigiana and Stuffed Mushroom. Nick Gust offers a gourmet's delight at his Rockaway Beach eatery, with three outstanding restaurants (Nick's, The Moonraker, and Captain Charles) being ideally located along the shoreline of Pacifica, and offering menu variety. One could dine here for a week and enjoy something different each seating. Red meats, seafood and fowl, plus all the tasty side dishes, are served in grand style. And for the romantic touch, there's a vista view of the Pacific Ocean, which is enhanced in the evening hours by illumination. Nevada Tours reports that the adventures are taking advantage of the big cash refunds in South Lake Tahoe. Also ask "Kay" about their tours to Reno and Las Vegas. A call now will put you in the "driver's seat" for an exciting time in Nevada. Nevada Tours can book your party (large or small) for any vacation time and place you desire. True, you'll find that most Italian restaurants feature a "Joe's Special," in one fashion or another. But one that really turns on your Bright Lighter at least twice a week is the "Vince's Special" prepared by "Big Nick" and his kitchen staff at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant in San Mateo. Since the ingredients are somewhat of a secret, you'll just have to order it on your next visit here. You're in for your "Happiest Hour" when visiting Scotty Campbell's. In drinking words, this special cocktail time is featured in the late evenings till closing. A nice feature following an enjoyable dinner here. This well-favored restaurant of the social set and show business world is open 365 nights from 5 p.m. to 4 a.m. Sundays from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. Vince's Greenhouse restaurant in San Francisco has a full-time florist on the premises. # Assessor Notes Tax Inequities County Assessor Jack Estes Friday noon told members of the San Bruno Rotary Club that he would favor a gross income tax to replace the existing ad valorem property tax system so many taxpayers are now grumbling about. The weakness of the ad valorem method is that it isn't geared to the ability to pay," said Estes, guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon. "This is a busy season," he said about the activity in the assessor's office. "The fruits of our labor come to light," he said so far some 65,000 notices of assessment have been mailed and another 20,000 will be going out in the next two weeks, mostly in the South County. Estes admitted to "getting a lot of black" and complaints because the per cent of assessment is so high. One Rotarian asked how he could justify an increase of over 100 per cent. "This is a tough one," said Estes. He explained there probably is one of several reasons: the market is increasing so fast, the property may have had improvements placed on it, or it might have been underappraised the last time around. To illustrate the point, he referred to an independent survey of 200 pieces of property. These properties, all selling twice within a short period of time, had an average increase in value of $490 a month he said. In another situation, he took a hypothetical $60,000. He said investing it in a race horse would result in $1,000 in taxes. The same money invested in a fishing boat would cost $500 in taxes. If the money went into a pleasure aircraft, said Estes, the taxes would be $900. And, if it were invested in a single-family home taxes could be $1,800. "Some people seem to be frightened about taking a property to appeal," said Estes. He said there were 530 appeals last year and the county didn't fight 192 of them. On the subject of commercial and industrial properties, Estes said the reason assessments are slower is because these properties don't change hands as regularly. He said apartments would go on a two-year cycle next year. "The nature of inquiries and complaints are real and bonafide," said Estes. "The senior citizens especially are hurting. This is a real serious social problem that we can't do anything about. We're appraising the property, not the property owner." We're obligated to follow the market," said Estes. "There have to be changes made somewhere," he said, and suggested the place to do it is at the state level.

DC Man Held

A young man was arraigned on assault charges Monday in Central District Municipal Court stemming from an incident in a San Mateo bar in which a woman was brutally beaten. James L. Jackson, 34, of Daly City, was arrested Saturday at his residence by San Mateo and Daly City officers. Jackson, who reported is a suspect in the beating of a 42-year-old woman inside the Club Sullivan bar, 416 East 2nd Ave. The woman was struck by a man who then kicked the victim in the head and stomach as she fell to the floor, according to witnesses inside the bar. Several bar patrons jumped on the assailant and pulled him from the battered woman. The attacker then fled from the bar. Arriving San Mateo officers discovered the woman lying unconscious in a pool of blood on the tavern floor. The victim was treated for head injuries at Mills Hospital and released Monday afternoon.
